Section 1:
Introductory Overview
Dear Friends in Christ,

Through the grace of the sacrament of baptism, each of us has received a particular vocation from God. The word “vocation” means, “to be called.” Vocations ministry is focused on helping the people of God discover the particular calling that God has given them, even from before they were born.

God calls women and men to serve in many different ways. Some are called to consecrate their lives to God as religious brothers and sisters. Some are called to consecrate their lives as virgins or as 3rd order Religious. Many are called to live out their vocation as married persons. Others are called to respond to God in their capacity as single persons. Some are called as professional lay ecclesial ministers. Still others are called to dedicate their lives to God and the church as ordained priests and deacons.

Whatever the calling may be, discerning it prayerfully and responding to it fully is the key to experiencing God’s light and purpose in our lives. St. Thomas Aquinas reminds us that we are created by God for God – to obey God’s commands, to love Him and to bring glory to Him through lives of faithful service. Indeed, responding to our vocation is what brings life true meaning and joy!

I am grateful for your assistance to the Vocations Office through the establishment of the Parish Vocations Advocate ministry. The task of your position is to help all persons develop a deeper understanding of their God-given vocation. In a particular way, you will be helping the Vocations Office toward helping young persons respond to the vocations of priesthood and religious life. You will be doing a great service to the diocese, and for that I am deeply grateful.

May Almighty God bless you in your service of vocations ministry. I assure you of my prayers that the Lord of the Harvest may enrich us with many faithful and dedicated workers for His harvest (Luke 10:2).

Sincerely Yours in Christ,

The Most Reverend Salvatore J. Cordileone
Bishop of Oakland
Dear Parish Vocations Advocate,

In our present age, the fostering of vocations among all God’s people is certainly a ministry deserving of our utmost attention and effort. To this end, we are asking for the help of dedicated and caring parishioners who are willing to serve as Parish Vocations Advocates in the eighty-four parishes of the Diocese of Oakland.

We are happy to present you with this copy of the Parish Vocations Advocate Guide. Suggestions for getting started will help you begin your work. Three tasks are set before us:

Creating Vocations Awareness
Praying Earnestly for Vocations
Inviting Individuals to Respond

After you have had a chance to become familiar with the material in the guide, and as you begin the work, we encourage you to meet with your pastor, the staff of your parish and your Parish Council. Their collaboration and the approval of your pastor will help insure the success of your efforts.

Be assured of our prayers for the success of your work. You will have the assistance of the Vocations Office as you undertake the task of fostering vocations among the faithful; especially to priesthood, religious life, the deaconate and lay ecclesial ministry. May the Lord of the Harvest bless your efforts abundantly.

Sincerely in Christ,

Fr. Larry D’Anjou          Mr. Robert Federle
Director of Vocations      Associate Director of Vocations
1. Get Organized
   Study the various sections of this guide. It is a good summary of the tasks you will face and what you need to do to be an effective Parish Vocations Advocate. Adapt the wording to your local situation if necessary.

2. Plan Activities
   You have three basic tasks to carry out. They are:

   Task # 1: Creating vocations awareness

   Task # 2: Campaign of prayer

   Task # 3: Inviting individuals personally

   This section of the guide is important since it will introduce you to these topics.

3. Meet With Pastor and Parish Council
   Always inform the pastor of your plans and vision. Invite his input and participation. It is also important to meet with the parish council at least once a year and inform them of your activities. Give them copies of your charter statement so they have a handy summary of your work and role.

4. Get the Word Out
   Be sure to let the parish know you exist. Put an announcement in the parish bulletin (see sample announcement in Section 2). You could also give a short presentation at the end of all Masses some Sunday explaining to the people what you hope to accomplish (see sample script in Section 2). Or your pastor could give that presentation. Do what fits best in your particular parish.
5. Team Up With Others
Collaborate with other programs and groups in the parish. Attend their meetings and ask for their suggestions and help. These groups include: youth ministry, young adult ministry, religious education, parish school, ministers to the sick, parish prayer groups, liturgy committee, Knights of Columbus, Serrans, parish ethnic communities, small faith communities, people who attend morning Mass, etc.

6. Be Informed
Read the information in this guide. Also be familiar with the list of videos and other resources. The Diocesan Vocation Office will send regular mailings to you making new materials available to you.

7. Network
Stay in contact with other parish vocations advocates or parish vocations committees in your deanery. They can be a source of support and new ideas. Consider organizing regular meetings at a deanery level.

8. Find New Members
If you form a parish vocations committee be on the lookout for new members for your committee. Your committee can include as many as 10 members. Many hands make for light work.
The Parish Vocations Advocate has three major tasks:

1. Creating parish awareness of vocations.
2. Launching a campaign of prayer for vocations.
3. Surfacing names of potential candidates and personally inviting them to consider a church vocation.

It goes without saying that a parish vocations advocate should be promoting vocations! If the role means anything it means using every opportunity to keep the need for vocations before the eyes of the people in the parish. And this task is made easier by the Diocesan Vocation Office which has a variety of material for the promotion of vocations at the parish level. This material includes posters, brochures and other materials that can be displayed in the vestibule of the church.

This material is already available to parishes, but it sometimes does not get used because nobody on the parish staff has the time to deal with it. That is where you come in. One of the important tasks of the parish vocations advocate is to assist parish staff in taking advantage of this promotional material. In reality, this may mean taking responsibility for seeing that the material gets used. Remember the average parish gets a large volume of mail each day and parish staff members do not have the time to follow up on all of it. They will be happy that you are taking this chore off their hands. Just keep the pastor informed about what you are doing and get his permission before you begin this new role.

Please see Section 3 for selected resources in creating vocation awareness. The Diocesan Vocation Office has posters, brochures and other promotional materials.
The second major task of the Parish Vocations Advocate is to organize a campaign of prayer in the parish. Prayer must always be the foundation of our work to promote vocations-personal prayer and community prayer.

Ways to Pray for Vocations:

- Personal Prayer
  If you ask others to pray for vocations, you need to begin by praying yourself. Make vocations to the priesthood and religious life part of your private prayer every day. Use the vocation prayer printed in Section 4.

- Vocation Cross Program
  The Vocation Cross Program is recommended by our Diocesan Vocations Office. Each week one family hosts a vocation cross and prays for vocations every night during that week. The following week a new family hosts the cross. This program can be organized on a parish wide basis. See fuller explanation in Section 4.

- Votive Mass and/or Services for Vocations
  A sample votive Mass for vocations is included in Section 4. It includes a sample homily and tips for preaching about vocations. Also included is a sample “Prayer Service for Senior Citizens.” Other specialized services can be written using the sheet entitled "Scripture Passages Related to God’s Call."

- Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament
  This is one of the best ways to pray for vocations. Some parishes do it one day a week; others do it seven days a week. Because of the organization involved signing up volunteers (somebody has to be present at all times while the Blessed Sacrament is exposed), you may want to start with a holy hour once a week or once a month. See “Holy Hour for Church Vocation” in Section 4 for more information.
• Prayers of the Faithful
  There are sample prayers in Section 4 also. Give them to whomever writes the Prayers of the Faithful each week and encourage that person to include a petition for vocations in the Mass every Sunday.

• Rosary Before Mass
  Ask those who recite the Rosary before daily Mass to recite the vocation prayer at the end of the Rosary each day.

• Parish Prayer Groups
  Ask the leaders of your parish prayer groups to make vocations a special intention in their prayers and recite the vocation prayer regularly.

• Prayers of the Sick
  Ask those who are sick to pray for vocations and offer up their sickness for this intention. By doing this the sick can become a powerhouse of prayer for vocations. A "Sick Person's Prayer for Vocations" is included in Section 4. To get this prayer out to the sick you will need to enlist the help of your ministers of the sick, assuming they are the ones visiting the sick every week. Included in this section is a sample letter you can send to ministers of the sick in the parish. Also included are sample vocation commitment cards. If visiting the sick is done by the priests, ask them to give the prayer cards to the sick and seek their commitment to pray.
People Need An Invitation
The third major task of the Parish Vocations Advocate, which can be done in conjunction with a Parish Vocations Committee, is to surface names of individuals in the parish who might make good priests or religious, and personally invite them to consider this special call. This is a crucial part of vocation work and many young people have been lost to the ministry because it was not done. It is the missing link in vocation work. A Knights of Columbus study, done among young people some years ago by Fr. Andrew Greeley, found that nine out of ten young men who expressed some interest in the priesthood had never been encouraged by anybody, and as a result did not chose a priestly vocation. Meanwhile, a survey done among the seminarians in Mundelein Seminary in Chicago found that most men who have entered seminary have done so in part because someone along the way said: "You would make a good priest."

Who should we invite?
Following are four easy steps on how to surface names of potential candidates for personal invitation.

1. Pray about it
   Prayer must always be primary. Spend some time before the Blessed Sacrament and ask the Lord's help and guidance in the important mission you are about to take on.

2. Consult
   Meet with the pastor and parish staff and ask them for names of people they believe would make good priests and religious. Use the "Invitation Checklist" included in Section 5 of this guide. Conduct the same discussion with all the major organizations and groups of the parish, using the checklist.
3. Meet
If you have a parish vocations committee then meet as a committee to add more names to the list or refine the list you have compiled. It would be helpful to have the pastor attend this meeting since he probably knows the parishioners better than any one else.

4. Personally invite
It is now time to personally invite candidates whose names you have surfaced. When you or a suitable member of your parish vocations committee talks to the candidate say something like this: “I am contacting you on behalf of our Parish Vocations Committee. Our committee feels you would make a good priest/sister. If you would like to discern this call further I can put you in touch with our diocesan Office of Vocations.”

If you feel self-conscious about doing this, remember that you are really complimenting the person. Even if the person is not interested in a church vocation, he/she will feel affirmed by your conversation. You may want to ask the pastor to do the inviting on behalf of the Parish Vocations Committee. An invitation from the pastor can be more effective.

CHARTER STATEMENT FOR A PARISH VOCATIONS COMMITTEE

Name
The name of this group will be the Parish Vocations Committee of (parish name).

Purpose
The purpose of the Parish Vocations Committee is to inspire and assist the parish community in fulfilling its mission of fostering vocations, especially to ordained ministry and religious life. The committee will do this mainly in three ways:

1. Promote Parish Awareness of Vocations
   Committee members will promote and advertise vocations in the parish in a variety of ways such as displaying posters and other materials in the church vestibule and having vocations mentioned regularly in the parish bulletin. They will remind liturgical planners to include vocations in the Sunday Prayers of the Faithful and encourage priests and deacons to preach on vocations on Good Shepherd Sunday, also observed as World Day of Prayer for Vocations (Fourth Sunday of Easter) and the Feast of the Baptism of the Lord, which begins National Vocations Awareness Week (usually the third week in January). They will also encourage parish and school committees to commemorate National Vocations Awareness Week by having speakers visit the classrooms of the school and religious education program to talk about vocations.

2. Campaign of Prayer
   The committee will organize ongoing prayer for vocations in the parish. This may include holy hours and perpetual adoration of the Blessed Sacrament. The sick and infirm will be asked to pray for vocations. Prayer groups and morning Mass people will also be asked to make vocations a special intention. Families will be invited to pray for vocations by participating in the Vocation Cross Program. Committee members will include vocations in their own personal prayer every day.

3. Inviting Individuals to Consider a Vocation
   The committee will surface the names of potential candidates for priesthood and religious life and will personally invite them to consider that vocation.
Committee members will spend some time in prayer, preferably before the Blessed Sacrament, before surfacing names. They will also consult parish staff and parish organizations for suggestions. In this search they will use the "Invitation Checklist" contained in Section 5 of this guide.

4. Relationship to Other Groups
   The committee is responsible to and reports regularly to the parish council. The committee will also work closely with other groups and programs in the parish: youth ministry, young adult ministry, religious education, parish school, YLI, ministers to the sick, parish prayer groups, liturgy committee, Knights of Columbus, Serrans, parish ethnic communities, small faith communities, people who attend morning Mass, etc. The committee will also try to meet regularly with other vocations committees in the deanery.

5. Personal Development of Members
   Members of the committee will attend the workshops offered by the Diocesan Vocation Office each year, and will strive to inform themselves about vocation trends and programs across the nation. The Diocesan Vocation Office will assist in providing educational resources.

6. Membership
   The committee is composed of not more than 10 members approved by the pastor of the parish. One of the priests and sisters in the parish should sit on the committee if possible. Members may serve not more than five consecutive years unless there is a good reason to do otherwise. The chairperson is selected by the members unless the pastor decides otherwise.

7. Annual Review
   The committee members will attend the workshops organized by the Diocesan Vocation Office. These workshops will provide committee members with an opportunity to review the programs of the previous year and plan for the upcoming year.

Please describe below any specific needs in parish vocation ministry that you would like to see addressed by the Diocesan Vocation Office or your own parish in the future:
Parish Vocations Committee Formed

Our parish recently organized a parish vocation committee. The task of the committee is threefold:

1. To promote awareness of vocations in our Catholic community.

2. To pray for church vocations and organize parish prayer and services for this intention.

3. To periodically surface names of potential candidates for church vocations and personally invite them to consider this special call.

The members of the committee have already attended a training workshop on vocations offered by the Diocesan Vocation Office, and the members will be installed at the (time) Mass by our pastor on (date). The Committee members are: (names of members).
SAMPLE PRESENTATION BY COMMITTEE MEMBER

These or similar words could be used by a committee member in a presentation at the end of Sunday Masses announcing the formation of the Vocations Committee in the parish.

Good morning! My name is ____________. I am a member of the newly formed Vocations Committee in our parish.

Vocations Committees are being formed in the parishes of our diocese. These committees are part of the strategy to form a culture of vocations in the diocese. This strategy calls on all of us to make a concerted effort to promote vocations to the priesthood and religious life.

The Parish Vocations Committee, which is the heart of this strategy, will have three aims:

1. To create greater awareness of church vocations in the parish community.
2. To pray for vocations personally and assist the parish community to pray for that cause.
3. To periodically surface names of potential candidates for the priesthood and religious life and personally invite those people to consider this special calling.

Members of the committee have already attended a training workshop offered by the Diocesan Vocations Office, and our members will be officially installed by our pastor on (date) at the (time) Mass.

I would ask you for your prayers for the success of this committee. I would also ask you to pray for vocations, that the church will have the priests and religious needed for the future.

If you have any questions about our committee, I will be available outside the church following this Mass. Thank you.
Section 3:
Resources for Task #1:
Creating Vocation Awareness
Each of us is called by God. This call is rooted in Baptism, and is a way of participating in the mission of Jesus.

There are a rich variety of calls given by God.

Most people will choose marriage. Some people are single and may choose to serve God in that state. Others may choose to be sisters, priests, or brothers.

All lifestyles are needed for the sake of God’s people, to make the picture complete.

Priesthood and religious life continue to evolve in ways never presented by the stereotypical images in the media.

Sisters, priests, and brothers are ordinary people who don't claim to be perfect, but desire to be of service in how they live and work.

To be a sister, priest or brother can be an exciting life of service. Priesthood and religious life are for healthy, happy and energetic women and men.

Because there are fewer sisters, priest and brothers, ways need to be discovered in local situations for people to have first-hand experience with them.

A celibate choice is a valid and healthy way of loving that demands an integrated sense of self and one's sexuality.

Terms need to be defined that are related to church ministry and the lifestyles of sister, priest and brother, (charism, vows, formation, novitiate, etc.).

Personal invitation continues to be the main reason someone chooses to consider religious life and priesthood as possible options.
EXAMPLES OF PROMOTIONAL MATERIAL

The following material is made available to parishes by the Diocesan Vocation Office. Parish Vocations Advocates should offer to assist parish staff in taking advantage of this vocation material.

Vocation Posters and Brochures
Our office makes available posters, brochures and prayer cards on vocations. One important role of the Parish Vocations Advocates is to see that posters are displayed and to contact the Diocesan Vocation Office for a new poster if needed. He or she should also watch out for other materials--fliers and brochures--and encourage parish staff to display them in the vestibule of the church.

Parish Bulletin Announcements
The Diocesan Vocation Office mails a variety of bulletin announcements to the parish as a way of keeping vocations before the eyes of the people on Sundays. Parish Vocations Advocates should develop a relationship with the parish bulletin editor and remind that person to print these announcements as often as possible.

Material for National Vocation Events
The Diocesan Vocation Office sends out material to all pastors, deacons and administrators for Good Shepherd Sunday also observed as World Day of Prayer for Vocations (the Fourth Sunday of Easter) and National Vocation Awareness Week (usually the third week in January). This material includes ideas for a vocation homily as well as other suggestions for Mass on those occasions. Remind those planning Sunday liturgies to take advantage of this material and, if appropriate, offer to help.

Classroom Material
Parish Vocations Advocates should see to it that a vocation speaker visits the classrooms of the parish school and religious education program each year. This is particularly important for students in the 4th to 8th grades. Research has shown that the seeds of most religious vocations are sown during those years, even though the person does not make the final decision until years later. And if you have trouble finding a speaker (and do not wish to speak yourself) think about using one of our seminarians. They make excellent speakers for young people since they already have made the kind of decision we want some young people to make. For help in finding a seminarian speaker call the Diocesan Vocation Office.

Harvest Prayer Association for Vocations

PRAYER FOR VOCATIONS

Vocations grew out of the family. The family is the place where God dwells in a special way. It is a place of support and challenge, a place of love and acceptance. Within our family, we learn right relationship with our God, with others and with ourselves. Please pray for vocations encouraged by family members.

Campaign of Prayer
Loving God,
You speak to us and nourish us through the life of this church community.

In the name of Jesus, we ask you to send your Spirit to us so that men and women among us, young and old, will respond to your call to service and leadership in the church.

We pray, especially, in our day, for those who hear your invitation to be a priest, sister or brother.

May those who are opening their hearts and minds to your call be encouraged and strengthened through our enthusiasm in your service. Amen.
Vocation Cross Program

Vocations don't grow on trees. They come from families. For that reason, prayer for vocations should include prayer in the family. When families pray for future priests and sisters, God listens. More than that, God may plant a vocation seed in the very family doing the praying. And one practical way to get families to pray for vocations is to start a Vocation Cross Program in the parish.

A cross is circulated throughout the parish, with each family hosting the cross for one week. During that week the family prays every day—usually before the evening meal—for vocations to the priesthood and religious life. Copies of a special vocations prayer are provided by the parish for use by the family. The cross is put in some prominent place in the house so the family members are reminded of its presence throughout the week.

It is best to present the cross to the hosting family during a Sunday Mass. As well as creating a formal setting for handing over the cross, this reminds the entire congregation to pray for vocations.

To have this program run smoothly someone (or group) will need to be in charge of keeping the calendar. Sponsoring families should sign up well ahead of time and will need to know what Mass to attend to receive the cross. The celebrant should present the cross to the family using some appropriate wording such as:

"I present this cross to you and commission you to pray each day this week for more vocations to the priesthood and religious life. We, the community, will also join our prayers to yours that the Lord will raise up the workers he needs for the harvest."

The crosses can be provided by the parish or the Diocesan Vocation Office.

See Appendix 1 for resources for the Vocations Cross Program. These resources can also be downloaded in English or Spanish by clicking on “Vocations” at www.oakdiocese.org.
VOTIVE MASS FOR PRIESTLY VOCATIONS (with homily outline)

For the Parish Community or Adult Groups Within the Parish

Suggested Scripture readings:
OT: Exodus 3 3: 1-6, 9-12
Response: Psalm 84:1-2, 3, 10, 11 -Refrain verse I
NT: Romans 8:28-30

Opening Prayer:
Father, in your plan for our salvation you provide shepherds for your people. Fill your Church with the spirit of courage and love. Raise up worthy ministers for your altars and ardent but gentle servants of the gospel.

Grant this through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever.

General Intercessions:
Presider: We come before our God to present these special intentions.

Response: God, increase our love.

• That we may clearly understand the challenge of the Gospel: to live out our faith by giving ourselves to it each day, we pray ...

• That we may consider a generous response to the call of Christ to labor in the vineyard of the Lord, we pray...

• That each of us may validate our baptismal commitment in love and service to all God’s people, we pray...

• For an increase in vocations to the priesthood, diaconate, brotherhood, sisterhood, and lay ministries, we pray ...

• For those who have already given their lives in service and love to carry on the work of Christ, we pray...
• Let us pray for our special intentions...

_Presider:_ God, hear these special requests we make today. We renew our faith in your promise that whatever we ask in faith shall not go unanswered. Hear us and bless us through Christ our Lord.

Prayer Over the Gifts:
Pray brethren...

Lord, accept our prayers and gifts. Give the Church more priests and keep them faithful in their love and service.

Grant this in the name of Jesus the Lord.

Before the Lord’s Prayer:
Jesus taught his disciples to pray. In the spirit of our common calling to follow him, let us join in prayer, using the words he gave us...

Prayer After Communion:
Lord, hear the prayers of those who are renewed with the bread of life at your holy table. By this sacrament of love bring to maturity the seeds you have sown in the field of your Church; may many of your people choose to serve you by devoting themselves to the service of their brothers and sisters.

We ask this through Christ our Lord.

Solemn Blessing:
May our Lord Jesus Christ himself and God our Father, who has loved us and has given us everlasting encouragement and good hope through his grace, comfort your hearts and make them strong for every good deed and word.

R. Amen.

May almighty God bless you, the Father, and the Son, † and the Holy Sprit.
R. Amen.

Dismissal:
Our celebration is ended. Let us accept the challenge of Christ to "Come and Follow."
God challenges Moses to accept the leadership of the Israelites.

He is reluctant, for he fears his inadequacy for the work.

God promises to always be present to strengthen Moses in this endeavor.

The sign of that presence will be found in worship.

St. Paul, in his letter to the Christians at Rome, insists that God call certain people to do this work, to make God known among all people.

The cost of being a disciple, of accepting the challenge, is great (Luke), but so, too, are the rewards great.

For goodness to have an effect on the world, there must be those who give their lives in service completely. Moses had such a vocation; so did St. Paul -- so did Jesus.

Accepting the challenge is not done without asking the important questions:
1. What does the Lord want from me?
2. What is the cost of this discipleship?
3. What abilities do I bring to the challenge? What inabilities?
4. Is this a mature decision on my part? Have I tested it?
5. Am I generous enough to give the sort of response I believe God wants of me?

Priests, deacons, brothers and sisters share in something larger than themselves; something greater than nations, peoples, or ages, For they have a part in the ongoing revelation of God to the human family, the formation of the human race into the People of God, the ultimate fulfillment of our destiny.

God places the challenge before us today; may God grant the blessing of many generous responses from among our Christian family.
1. Root Your Homily in the Scriptures for the Day
   There are plenty of Scripture texts that lend themselves well to preaching about vocations. The themes of call and response, community, discipleship, self-giving and mission are regular features in the cycle of readings for the church year. When any homily is preached, its focus should always be the Word which has been given for the day. When you make a pastoral decision to focus on an invitation to priesthood and religious life, it is appropriate to do so when the Liturgy of the Word lends itself to that focus. Two very appropriate days are the Feast of the Baptism of the Lord, when the church in the United States begins its observation of National Vocation Awareness Week, and the Fourth Sunday of Easter, Good Shepherd Sunday, which is also observed as World Day of Prayer for Vocations.

2. Use Contemporary Images
   When choosing images and stores for a vocation homily, ask yourself, "Will a seventeen-year-old parishioner relate to this story?" Examples like Pope John Paul II, Mother Theresa, Dorothy Day, and other heroic Christians will probably strike a chord with young people because they have most likely heard of them outside of their church experience.

3. Focus on Vocations to Priesthood and Religious Life -- Be Direct
   Perhaps you have noticed that often young men and women who make a choice for priesthood or religious life are already involved in some level of parish ministry, whether as paid professionals or as volunteers. When preaching on vocations to the priesthood and religious life, remember that your congregation includes these young adults who are already dedicated to serving God as lectors, music ministers, and catechists. Without implying that lay ministry is a lesser form of service, be direct in your invitation to consider the lifestyle of a vowed or ordained minister.

4. Affirm the Faith of Your Listeners
   People who worship regularly in our parish communities demonstrate that they are people of faith searching for more. The motivations that carried them to Mass are already counter cultural. Thank God for their faith ... Jesus did.
5. Tell Your Story
"Young people have immense curiosity about the lives of people who appear to have discovered sense, meaning, and a measure of fulfillment" (Michael Hunt, CSP). Share a concrete moment from your story so your listeners might make a connection with your discernment, vocation, joy, and sense of mission.

6. Give a Bold, Personal Invitation
The number one reason young people say they haven't considered vowed or ordained ministry is that no one had ever asked them. Ask your listeners directly to consider the possibility of a church vocation. Be courageous.

"Today, I'm asking the young people in our parish to think about what it would be like to serve the People of God as a priest, brother, or sister."

7. Ask Parents and Grandparents
Enlist the help of parents and grandparents in the vocation effort of the church. Pope John Paul II clearly pointed out that vocations begin at home.

"Parents and Grandparents, please talk with your children and grandchildren about the possibility of serving in a religious vocation. We owe it to them to offer them the possibility."

8. Include Religious Life
When preaching on vocations, include reflections on religious orders. Do not neglect to promote communities of religious women and men. For years, sisters and brothers have generously supported vocations in our schools. Priests should return the favor.

"Think about what it would be like to do the work of a brother, to do the things a sister does."

9. "The Church Needs You"
Let your listeners know that they are important. They could make a great contribution to the mission of Christ by serving as a priests, sister, or brother.

"The church needs You! Just one generous person can make such a difference in the mission of God by offering his or her life in the service of the church."
PRAYER SERVICE FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

Leader: Anyone who can say with pride today that he or she is a "senior citizen" is saying other things as well. Hopefully each person is also saying, "I have learned through the experience of life. I am growing in wisdom as well as age. I want to share what I am and who I am."

Older members of our parish community are our treasures. You have indeed learned that life carries with it many joys as well as challenges. You have had and still have many opportunities to share, to give, to make the most of your talents and abilities for the sake of God's people.

Reading: Wisdom 7:7-12

Leader: It is not always easy to grow older, to change and to see people, places, and things change around us. But even in struggle and difficulty—even in pain—we are invited to share in the passion and resurrection of Jesus. Let us ask ourselves, "How can I be of service to others, not only in the joys that I experience, but also in pain and loneliness as well?"

(Pause for Reflection)

Leader: The senior members of our parish community are invited in a special way to be people of wisdom, people of faith and people of prayer. Each is invited to pray for and encourage others within the Christian community, that they might respond generously to God's will in their lives. We need generous and loving women and men to minister among us. We need people like you to pray for and encourage them.

Reading: 1 Thessalonians 5:11

Leader: Let us pray for those who have ministered and do minister among us, and for women and men we know who may be in the process of deciding how they will respond to God's call.

(Spontaneous Prayers)
Leader: Let us each commit ourselves to a particular way of supporting those considering church ministry.

(Pass out commitment cards shown on following pages).

Prayer: The following prayer can be prayed by the leader or by all after commitment cards are collected.

(This prayer may be printed out and given to participants for personal use.)

A Senior Citizens Prayer for Church Vocations

_Loving God,_
You call me to be a person of faith, who desires to grow in wisdom as well as age. Teach me to be open to you in responding to your love in my life.

As I grow older, sometimes I am sick or without energy, or feel very lonely. Let me remember that you too know what it is to suffer and yet have hope.

I desire to offer the difficulties of my life for those who also struggle to be the people you desire them to be.

I ask that you bless our church community with generous and enthusiastic ministers who desire to work among us, who can bring your Good News to our world. Amen.
"May we move into the future united in hope and in a spirit of prayer, with boundless trust in the One who is the Way, the Truth, and the Life. If each of us takes personal responsibility to encourage vocations to priesthood and religious life, then, together we will build a vocation-rich Catholic community. Pray the Lord of the harvest send laborers into the vineyard."

Adding these Prayers of the Faithful regularly to your weekday and Sunday liturgies is encouraged both as a means of intercessory prayer and for promoting vocation awareness.

1. That families will strive to make their homes places where children can hear God call them by name.

2. That parents may realize their responsibility to be an example of faith for their children.

3. That those who feel a call to and desire for priesthood or religious life may find the courage to say yes to what God asks of them.

4. That young men and women will listen to the Spirit in their hearts and respond to the cry from deep within.

5. That our parish communities will nurture religious vocations through their lives of prayer and service, giving witness to God's loving action in the world.

6. That we may be signs of God's presence and love in the world.

7. That our daily living may transform our suffering world into a place of love, justice, and peace.

8. For those who struggle in their vowed commitment, that the mystery of God's deep love will strengthen them.

9. In thanksgiving for those priests, sisters, and brothers who inspire and strengthen us by the witness of their commitment.

10. We pray to you, our good and gracious God, that you will continue to call women and men of faith to serve as ministers in our church.

11. We pray that through the power of your Spirit you fill those you call with the courage and faith to respond to a life of service.
12. We pray, God of hope, that you will continue to call women and men to serve your church as sisters, brothers, and priests.

13. We pray, God of love, that our lives may be a sign of your presence and love in the world.

14. We praise you God, for your mysterious ways among us; for your presence in the midst of human affairs and for the many ways you gift us with life.

15. For parents and teachers, that they may have the courage and faith to speak God's word in their words and actions.

16. For all women and men throughout the world: that they may find in Christ their source of contentment, peace, and security.

17. For all who seek to know the truth: that their searching may lead them to a life of generous service.

18. We pray for young people: that they may persevere in hope, trusting in God's faithfulness to them as they search for deeper meaning in life.

19. For wisdom for parents and educators, that they may know how to hand on the faith to children.

20. We pray for the whole church, especially for preachers and catechists, that the words they speak may be words of life for those who experience struggle, weariness and emptiness today.

21. For each of us, for our families and our friends, that we respond fully to the call of our baptism, and accept the grace to remain open to God's call to serve.

22. We pray for a sincerity of heart, a firmness of hope, and a purity of intention in our lives and in the life of the world.

23. We pray that young people may find a joyful faith in their families and encouragement to respond to a life of ministry and service.

24. For men and women in seminaries and religious formation programs, that they may know the support and love of our community as they grow in self-awareness and continue to discern God's call.

25. For those responsible for guiding the spiritual growth of seminarians, candidates and novices, that they will rely on the wisdom of the Spirit in their ministry.
Dear Minister of the Sick:

I am writing to invite your assistance in promoting vocations to the priesthood and religious life. The sick and shut-ins of our parish can provide a tremendous resource of prayer for vocations, and I hope you can help us to ask their prayers for this important purpose.

I enclose our new prayer cards, "Prayer of the Sick for Vocations" and a "Senior Citizen's Prayer for Vocations" which have been made available by the Diocesan Vocation Office. Use of these cards by the sick of our parishes is an important part of the strategy to implement a culture of vocations in the diocese. We would like to distribute these cards to the sick, shut-ins, and elderly, so that they might offer their illness or infirmities to the Lord for an increase of vocations. We call these people our Powerhouse of Prayer for Vocations. There are thousands of people who would probably be very happy to share in this worthy endeavor.

Membership in the Powerhouse of Prayer for Vocations is open to everyone who is willing to pray daily the prayer on one of the cards. There are no dues, no mailing lists, no meetings and no other obligations. The members have the spiritual benefit of knowing that their prayers and sufferings are for a good purpose, united with the prayers of many other people throughout the Oakland diocese.

Please let me know how many cards you can use. They are available without cost. Thanks for your cooperation.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Note: If you decide to use a “Prayer of the Sick for Vocations” or "Vocation Commitment Card" please include the samples in your letter.
Prayer of the Sick for Vocations

Lord,
you are a good and loving Father so I have great confidence that you are listening to me. Today we need many priests and consecrated men and women to serve your church.

I offer my sufferings, my illness, the infirmities of old age, and my personal inconveniences for your greater honor and glory. Give a spirit of generosity to our youth. Give them a vision, your vision, of how they can serve their brothers and sisters in Christ.

Oh God, give me strength to pray constantly, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Section 5:
Resources for Task #3: Inviting Individuals
Who are you looking for?
There are many single Catholics around who are prayerful, generous and involved in the parish. Assuming they have normal health and average intelligence, these are the kind of people who would make good priests and religious. But they often need a personal invitation from somebody to begin seriously considering a special call from God.

Where will you find them?
You will find them on the lists of volunteers that make up the membership of your parish organizations and programs. Take a close look at the following groups in particular, making sure to include all ethnic communities in your parish:

• Liturical Ministers
  Look through the list of servers, lectors, Eucharistic ministers, and cantors. According to the CARA study “The Class of 2007: Survey of Ordinands to the Priesthood”, 76% of diocesan ordinands who responded to the survey said they were altar servers, 60% said they had served regularly as lectors, and 51% said they had served regularly as Eucharistic ministers. These statistics suggest that close proximity to the Eucharist fosters in a person the desire to consider a church vocation.

• Religious Education Teachers
  Check your catechism teachers. The CARA study also found that 14% of the ordinands said they were RCIA team members at their parishes. These are the people who have already responded to the call to spread the faith to others. Full-time ministry could be the next step.

• Parish Organizations and Groups
  Check through membership lists in the following groups: charismatic groups, cursillo and other retreat participants, parish council and other parish committee members, hospital workers, RCIA team, scripture study faithfuls, youth ministry team, choir, social justice activists. There may be other groups in your parish not on this list.
• Sunday Congregation

Single Catholics who attend Sunday Mass regularly may also be potential candidates. You can also enlist the help of the Sunday congregation in searching out candidates. Put an announcement in the Sunday bulletin asking people to suggest names. You should also ask the congregation to pray for you in this important search. And ask the pastor to make an announcement about your search and to include the intention in the Prayers of the Faithful that week. See the sample bulletin announcement later in this section.
Search for Candidates

This month the Parish Vocations Advocate is conducting a search of potential candidates for the priesthood and religious life. The names surfaced will be contacted and personally invited to consider a church vocation. During this search process the Parish Vocations Advocate will consult with the organizations of the parish asking for suggestions. If you know of single Catholics whom you think would make good priests and sisters, please contact the Parish Vocations Advocate with their name and phone number. And please help by including them in your prayers.

Research has shown that most people who decide to study for the priesthood and religious life do so because somebody along the way said to them: "You would make a good priest or you would make a good sister or your would make a good brother."
This checksheet is a helpful tool for someone who may be assessing themselves as a potential priest or religious. It can be used as a resource for discussion with these persons or may be given to them directly as an aid toward assessing their life choice options.

A. Marriage
1. If you were to marry, what for you would be the best part of being married? Why?
2. What would you find the hardest? Why?
3. What factors would you consider most important in deciding whether or not to marry and/or deciding what person to marry?
4. Do YOU want to get married? Why or why not?

B. Single Life
1. If you remain single, what would you like most about that state in life? Why?
2. What would you find hardest? Why?
3. What do you think would be important factors which would lead someone to decide upon the single life?
4. Do YOU want to remain single? Why or why not?

C. Religious Life
1. If you became a sister or brother or religious priest, what would you find best about this state in life? Why?
2. What would you find hardest? Why?
3. What do you think are the reasons men and women choose religious life today?
4. Do YOU want to become a religious sister, brother, or priest? Why or why not?

Sample Announcement for Introducing the Parish Vocation Cross Program

Today we as a parish are being invited to become a part of a new program being initiated by our Oakland Diocesan Vocation Office. It’s called the parish Vocation Cross.

Here’s how the program will work:

Each Sunday a family, couple, or individual will come forward at the end of the (time) Mass (or one of the Masses) to receive the vocation cross and a special prayer written to accompany it. In taking the cross they commit themselves to pray during the week in the name of our parish the vocation prayer in thanksgiving for all those generously sharing in Church ministry and in particular for the gift of priests, deacons, sisters and brothers to serve in our Oakland Diocese.

All of you are invited to participate in this program. There is a sign up sheet in the back of the Church. We encourage you to sign up for one of the weeks and then to attend the designated Mass that week to receive the cross.

It is our hope that this experience will encourage each of us to take seriously our vocation as a member of the Body of Christ and encourage ALL of us to pray for the gift of vocations to priesthood and religious life (not just the family with the cross for the week!). We believe the Spirit is calling forth men and women from our faith community to these roles of service. May our prayer help inspire young women and men to be attentive to the movement of the Spirit within them and to step forward in faith and with generous hearts to wherever the Spirit leads them.
Parish Vocation Cross
Sample Directions for Participants

On behalf of the Parish we thank you for your participation in the Parish Vocation Cross Program. Here are some details regarding your participation.

Receiving the Cross:
Be sure to attend the Mass at which the cross will be distributed. After the closing prayer of the Liturgy you will be invited to come to the altar to receive the cross and the special vocation prayer. You can return to your place after you receive it.

Prayer during the week:
Please pray the Vocation Prayer with your family at a convenient time each day during the week. You might also use this as an opportunity to talk together about priests, sisters, and brothers you have known and admire.

Returning the Cross:
Please return the Vocation Cross and Prayers to the sacristy the following Sunday before the same Mass in which you received it. It is very important that you return it on time so the next participants will be able to receive it on time.

Thank you again for this ministry of prayer in the name of all of us at our parish.
Parish Vocation Cross
Prayer of Commissioning

Priest or Deacon:

In the gospel of Matthew, Jesus tells us, “Pray that the master of the harvest send out workers for his harvest” [Mt 9:38]. We, the Parish of (mention parish name) give you this Vocation Cross, and commission you to pray each day this week for Church vocations. In particular pray that men and women respond generously to the Spirit’s call for priests, religious sisters and brothers, deacons and lay ecclesial ministers. I also invite all of us to unite our prayers with theirs, so that our Church may share in an abundance of workers for God’s harvest.

We pray this through Christ our Lord. Amen.
